David Buckingham
GUITARIST

The parts of a wedding that classical guitar lends itself most to are:

Ceremony:

- As guests are being seated
- Playing for the Bride's processional.
- Playing during the signing of the register and photos
- Playing for the recessional of the Bride and Groom

David can arrange for solo guitar any song of your choice for the processional (aisle walk), signing of the register and recessional (when the Bride and Groom walk back up the aisle to exit the church).

Drinks Reception:

Providing sophisticated and unobtrusive background music while the guests are served champagne and canopies and the photos are taken. This can be inside or outside.

Wedding Breakfast:

Creating a relaxed and pleasant environment as guests enjoy the meal and speeches.

If you something else in mind then please contact David to discuss the options. Last year David played on the beach for a wedding in Tarifa, Spain, in the middle of a field for a picnic wedding (using battery-powered amplification) and will play in two weeks for an engagement party in a capsule on the London Eye so anything is possible!
